Join us virtually to learn the District Court's perspective on a vital and rewarding area of pro bono practice. Judge Jon Tigar invites you to learn more about the work you can do to help keep families and children safe and stable. Speakers will include representatives of legal services providers to talk about brief service domestic violence and family law work, and we will offer materials to guide you to partner agencies in your community. The program will include an informal online "reception" after the program.
