IN RE: ROUNDUP PRODUCTS LIABILITY LITIGATION	MDL No. 2741 Case No. 16-md-02741-VC
This document relates to: SEE APPENDIX	PRETRIAL ORDER NO 296: ORDER DENYING MOTIONS TO EXCLUDE EXPERTS STEWART, SWIGER, HAUGH, LUSTIG, WELCH- DUJARDIN, AND MACLEAN Re: Dkt. Nos. 18952, 18953, 18954, 18960, 18983, 18991

Monsanto has moved to exclude the testimony of five non-causation experts: Stewart, who opines on land valuation and appraisal; Swiger, who opines on economic loss; Haugh, who opines on business law and ethics; Lustig, who opines on the future costs of medical care; and Maclean, who opines on regulatory capture. The plaintiffs have also moved to exclude the testimony of expert Welch-Dujardin, whose opinions relate to EPA regulations and do not touch on causation. These motions are denied without prejudice. The Court has previously ruled that that the admissibility of non-causation expert testimony should be decided by the transferor court after remand. See Pretrial Order No. 202 (Dkt. No. 9143). For the sake of clarity, none of these experts may opine directly or indirectly about causation.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
